

Flesher

Object Card

The Plains Indians used tools like this flesher to clean hides. Women used fleshers to remove fat, meat, and other tissue from the inside of a buffalo hide. A cleaned buffalo hide could be used to make many things like clothing, tipis or storage containers. They often made fleshers from the leg bone of a buffalo because it was a strong bone.

