

Shield

Object Card

The thickest hide on a buffalo is on its hump. The rawhide shields made from this hide were so tough they could stop an arrow or slow down a bullet. Each person decorated his own shield with a unique design. The Plains Indians believed the symbols in these designs helped to protect them.

