NATIONAL REGISTER OF HISTORIC PLACES NOMINATIONS

Shiloh Baptist Church
1201 SW Buchanan Street, Topeka, Shawnee County

Criteria A & C: Architecture & Social History
Period of Significance: 1926-1954  Level of Significance: Local Resource Count: 1 contributing building

Summary: Shiloh Baptist Church’s congregation was established in 1879 by a group of black people from Tennessee and Kentucky who came to Topeka and settled in King’s Addition, a few blocks west of the State Capitol. King’s Addition was historically also called “Tennessee Town” because of the large number of people who had come from Tennessee. The current building at 12th & Buchanan streets is the congregation’s third structure. In 1926 the basement of the nominated building was completed and used for church services before the erection of the unfinished main auditorium in 1928. Between the years 1931 and 1939, the second unit of the church was partially improved, so that services which formerly had been held in the basement could be in the main auditorium. Major construction projects were completed throughout the ensuing years under the tenure of various senior pastors, until the building was completed in 1954. Shiloh Baptist Church is significant for its association with Topeka’s African-American community of Tennessee Town and as a unique local example of the combination of Neoclassical and Rustic design.

Presented by: Amanda Loughlin

Discussion: David Sachs asked if there was interest in pursuing a district nomination for Tennessee Town, to which Loughlin replied yes. Staff member Katrina Ringler noted that a Historic Preservation Fund grant was recently awarded to the City of Topeka for a Tennessee Town Intensive Historic Resources Survey. The purpose is to document potential contributing and non-contributing properties. Once all potential contributors are identified, the boundaries for a historic district may be identified for further nomination.

Public Discussion: Duke Palmer, Shiloh Baptist Church Historic Committee, spoke in support of the nomination. The Rev. D.C. Clark, Darlene Palmer, Lillian Bennett and Deacon Dick Bennett also stood in support of the nomination. Donna Rae Pearson also spoke in support of the nomination.

Criteria A & C: Architecture & Commerce
Period of Significance: 1930-1970
Level of Significance: Local
Resource Count: 3 contributing buildings, 1 contributing site, 1 non-contributing building
MPS: Roadside Kansas

Summary: Located a few blocks east of Emporia’s downtown, the Snowden S. Mouse Service Station & Tourist Home witnessed the history of Highway 50 through this town. The tourist home, built in 1894 as a single-family dwelling, was moved from its original location at the corner of 6th and Exchange by Snowden S. Mouse in 1930, and the first gas station structure was built shortly after to accommodate automobiles on 6th Avenue, which shortly thereafter became Highway 50. In 1934 the station’s second structure was built, and the tenants evolved to accommodate high volumes of traffic and transportation across the highway. Around 1970, traffic on Highway 50 became less high-volume. As a result, the businesses in the property evolved to less-automobile related.

SHPO Note: This will be a tax credit project.
