

The district is comprised of both “contributing” and “non-contributing” properties. Contributing resources include properties located within the district boundaries that add or contribute to the historic significance of the district. These may qualify for rehabilitation incentives. Non-contributing properties are those that are within the boundaries of the district but do not add historic significance to the district. They are either non-historic (not built within the district’s period of significance – 1887-1960) or have been altered and no longer reflect their historic appearance. Non-contributing properties may become contributing to the district if they were built within the period of significance, the alterations are reversed, and the building is returned to its historic appearance. Below is a list of properties within the district.
