Founding Fathers—Life in a Box Activity
Fifth Grade

Developed for
Library of Congress Midwest Region
“It’s Elementary: Teaching with Primary Sources” 2012

By Denise Robison
Junction Elementary, USD 202
Kansas City, KS

Overview:
The purpose of this lesson is for students to identify important Founding Fathers of our country and their contributions. Students will choose a Founding Father to research using primary sources, the Internet, books, etc., and create clues from primary sources, artifacts, household objects to present a “Life in a Box” activity. “Life in a Box” is an activity where clues about a person/place/thing are placed in a box and students must infer who/what the items are describing. This lesson is designed to take four class periods.

Standards:

Civics/Government (2004):
Benchmark 2, Indication 4: The student identifies important Founding Fathers and their contributions.

Kansas History, Government, Social Studies Standards (2013):
Standard #1: Choices have consequences
    Benchmark 1.2: The student will analyze the context under which choices are made and draw conclusions about the motivations and goals of the decision-makers.

Kansas College and Career Readiness English and Language Arts Standards

Reading Informational Text
RI.5.7: Students will draw on information from multiple print or digital sources, demonstrating the ability to locate an answer to a question quickly or to solve a problem efficiently.

Speaking and Listening Standards
SL.5.1 a-d: Students will engage effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grade 5 topics and texts, building on others’ ideas and expressing their own clearly.
SL.5.4: Students will report on a topic or text or present an opinion, sequencing ideas logically and using appropriate facts and relevant, descriptive details to support main ideas or themes: speak clearly at an understandable pace.
Sl.5.5: Students will include multimedia components (e.g., graphics, sound) and visual displays in presentations when appropriate to enhance the development of main ideas or themes.

Objectives:

Content:
- Students will research a Founding Father and demonstrate knowledge of his contributions in the establishment of our nation.

Skills:
- The student will locate facts from multiple sources.
- The student will evaluate information to produce a final project.
- The student will summarize information to write questions/clues about a Founding Father.

Essential Questions:
- Why are leaders important?
- How do we make contributions to government, society, and our community?

Lesson plan

Day 1

1. To build background knowledge on Founding Fathers, have students read from the applicable chapter/lesson in your social studies text. If you do not have a social studies text, you can consider your local library to find biographies suitable for this level or do online research.

2. Explain to the students that they will be learning about the Founding Fathers of our nation through an activity called “Life in a Box”. Students will be working with a partner to research one of our nation’s Founding Fathers.

3. Either use the George Washington PowerPoint that accompanies this lesson or create a “Life in a Box” of George Washington to model the activity. George Washington is a good Founding Father to model for the students because most students would be able to infer from the “Life in a Box” clues that the person is George Washington. Items for George Washington box include: (these primary sources are listed in the resource guide and are included in the PowerPoint)
   - Mount Vernon home picture
   - Federal Hall print
   - Letter to Washington from John Hancock
   - Constitution
   - Dollar Bill

For the George Washington “Life in a Box,” place copies of the primary sources in a decorative American Flag box and pull them out one by one to discuss, have the students ask questions, etc. to see if they can make the connection that my box is describing one of our Founding Fathers: George Washington. A Powerpoint presentation of this is also included.
4. Ask the essential question: Why are leaders important? Discuss how Washington was important and why he is a Founding Father.

5. Give students the list of Founding Fathers. Provide a little background knowledge of each person listed.

6. Tell the students that we will work together as a class to analyze the picture of Betsy Ross and create a “Life in a Box” as a class for Betsy Ross. Give each student a picture of Betsy Ross making the flag or use the bottom portion of the Powerpoint presentation Founding Fathers: George Washington. Allow time for students to analyze, draw conclusions about the print. Brainstorm items to include in the Betsy Ross “Life in a Box”.

Possible Betsy Ross items
- Bonnet
- Red Fabric
- Needle/Thread
- Stars
- American Flag

7. Introduce “Life in a Box” project. The students’ mission is to work with a partner to create a “Life in a Box” for one of the Founding Fathers listed on Founding Fathers. Each pair may choose their own Founding Father but they must be able to prove to the teacher that their choice is truly a Founding Father before they are allowed to continue the research.

8. Provide each pair with a Life in the Box Project Guide. Discuss the requirements for the final project, either a PowerPoint or “Life in a Box” which will be presented to the class. Each presentation must demonstrate these requirements:
   - Must contain 5-7 clues
   - Must be historically accurate
   - Clues must contain at least two contributions; other ideas may include – family, role in government, contribution to the nation, what they are famous for, or a fun fact (i.e., a cherry tree for George Washington.)

9. Remind the students as they do their research they will be looking for clues that describe their Founding Father. These clues must be historically accurate as they will be used in the final assessment.

10. The project is intended to have the students conduct their research using the Internet if possible. Provide the students with the Recommended websites for research. Give them time to get started on their research.

Day 2
1. Allow time for student to complete research.
2. Monitor room for questions.
3. Conference with groups about items they might need for their Life in a Box., where they will acquire them, who is responsible for what, etc.
4. If possible allow time for them to work on their presentations.

Day 3
1. Finish the projects.
2. Provide each student with a Life in a Box Presentation note sheet. Remind the students they need to take notes while their classmates are presenting
3. Score presentations using Life in a Box Presentation Rubric.

Assessment

1. Ahead of time prepare Post-It pages with the student clues, one page for each presentation. Also include one page with the clues from George Washington, Life in a Box sample and a page for Betsy Ross. Place these pages around the room in no particular order. Identify each page with only a letter (A, B, C, etc.).
2. Provide each student with the Founding Father’s Quiz. Allow students to walk around room to looking at the Post-It pages of clues to complete the quiz.

For the Teacher
• “Life in a Box” is used with permission of Dr. Darla Mallein – Emporia State University, Emporia, Kansas
• Students will have completed a primary/secondary sources sorting activity at the beginning of the year to build background knowledge. This activity consists of several laminated cards each with either a primary or secondary source pictured on the card. Students then work in groups to sort the cards into primary or secondary choices. Discuss of the sorting activity follows to give the students an understanding of primary and secondary sources
• Consider extending this lesson by using the Kansas Founding Fathers are included at the bottom of the Founding Fathers sheet. This is a great opportunity to incorporate some Kansas History into your study of important people in U. S. history.
• Read Kansas! lesson M-14 Territorial Characters for seventh grade is also an excellent resource and extension activity. Read Kansas! lessons are available through the Kansas Historical Society at www.KSHS.org under the Educate tab and Classroom Materials link.

Answer Key
• “Life in a Box” presentations may be graded at the teacher’s discretion. Life in a Box Presentation Rubric designed oral presentations is included from ncsu.edu.
• The assessment key for the Founding Father’s Quiz will be based on your students’ information and your identification labels.
Founding Fathers

George Mason
Thomas Jefferson
James Madison
George Washington

You must include at least two contributions in your project. There should be a total of 5-7 items in your project. Use the table below to take notes, document websites, etc. You may choose to complete a PowerPoint presentation or put together an actual box to present with your clues contained inside the box. Have fun! ☺
